*Children & Crime: What's the Link?
"Safe Cities" series continues on Rogers TV*

Waterloo Region – As part of a ten-part television series on issues related to crime, victimization and fear of crime, the Waterloo Region Crime Prevention Council presents the third installment of “Safe Cities” this Wednesday, November 25 at 9:00pm on Rogers TV, Cable 20, as part of the channel’s prime time program, Talk Local, with host Mike Farwell.

This week “Safe Cities” will investigate the topic of Children & Crime: Risks & Resiliency with a look at one of our most vulnerable populations, children. Topics for discussion will include the relationship between child well-being (or neglect) and crime, children as victims; what the role of the school is; and what our collective responsibility is to build healthy resilient children. Guest panel will include Peter Ringrose, Family & Children’s Services of Waterloo Region; Christine Bird, Alliance for Children & Youth; Shona Babstock, John Howard Society Waterloo Wellington; and John Shewchuk, Waterloo Catholic District School Board.

About “Safe Cities”

“Safe Cities” features local crime prevention topics and best practices, provides a panel discussion with local experts and offers an opportunity for viewers to call in with questions or comments. Each topic of discussion will also showcase local organizations or programs that are key contributors to making Waterloo Region a safe community. Upcoming episodes will explore the following topics:

- Crimes Against Children (Nov. 25)
- Women and Crime (Dec. 23)
- Seniors and Crime (Jan 27)
- Youth and Crime (Feb. 24)
- Neighbourhoods and Fear of Crime (Mar. 31)
- Behind Bars: Inside Prison (Apr. 28)
- Beyond Bars: Approaches and Alternatives (May 26)
- So What – Now What? Wrap up (June 30)
